

Alessa Ellefson is a writer and artist who lives in Belgium, the land of the Smurfs, fries, and chocolate pralines. A Christmas Tail is the first entry in her children's illustrated books series Mighty Pax's Misadventures. Alessa has published a Young Adult fantasy series, the Morgana Trilogy, a modern retelling of the King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table legends, and has won an award for her short movie scenario The Seeker's Key, which follows a child through the dangers of an immigration camp.

Alessa loves to write and illustrate stories, for big and small, while the real Pax snores happily away next to her. To find out more about her, her works, or get extras, visit her at www.alessaellefson.com.
